"Little Beams of Sunlight"

I really love taking pictures of children because they are pretty cute to capture but in this series it's more about letting people know that children need attention, acceptance and love. These quotations have inspired me to pursue this series:
"Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these."
"Children are the hands by which we take hold of heaven."
"The soul is healed by being with children."
"You have to love your children unselfishly."
